By ALINE THOMPSON

ONE of the prettiest and most artistic weddings of the season took place at the First Methodist church today at high noon, when Miss Grace Eleanor Thompson became the bride of Charles L. Sherman. Rev. Richard N. Avison officiating. The church was a bower of beautiful white and pink roses, and greens.

The bride, an unusually pretty girl, wore an imported gown of pineapple cloth over mouseline. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and lacy ferns.

Miss Laura Ross was maid of honor, and her frock was of pink tulle. She carried pink carnations.

Robert B. Walsh acted as best man and the guests were ushered by Alfred A. Schramm and Erol C. Gilkey.

Miss Gertrude Eakin, who presided at the organ, played Lohengrin's wedding march and also Mendelssohn's "Spring Song." Mrs. Elmer Brown of Portland sang "At Dawning," and "Because."

Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served to the bridal party at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman left this afternoon for a sojourn in Newport, and will be at home after the first of August at 1820 Cheneketa street.

The bride is a pretty girl with a charming manner, that has made her many friends. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Thompson, formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Sherman is from Iowa and is a graduate of the University of Iowa. He formerly resided in New York and recently came to Salem to make his home. He is a member of the faculty of the Willamette University.

Mrs. Ben W. Olcott has as her guest Mrs. F. A. Stiles of Dallas.

An informal party was given Tuesday night by Mrs. James Chinneck, who entertained in honor of her house guest Miss Emma Jane Garbade of Portland. A cortege of younger girls were asked to this delightful affair, and the evening was devoted to dancing and music.

Miss Garbade returned to her home in Portland this afternoon.

Miss Catherine Carson has as her house guest for a few days Miss Myrtle Albright, of Marquam.

Miss Thelma Draper, who has been the house guest of Mrs. William H. Burghardt, Jr., for several days, returned to Portland Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Merwin and son, Paul Henry, returned Tuesday from Portland, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Gro-hen in Concord Heights for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin motored to Portland, and spent most of their time driving on the Columbia Highway and other picturesque points in that vicinity. En route home they visited Clatskanie.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Norman and Mrs. C. Prewett of Gridley, Calif., and Mrs. F. C. Pierce of Livingston, Montana, who have been visiting at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodruff in Kaiser Bottom left Tuesday. En route home the party will tour many interesting points, returning to California probably the middle of July.

Miss Mary Lindley of Eugene is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeVoe.

CARRANZA ANXIOUS FOR ARBITRATION

Sends Urgent Appeals to Latin American Republics to Insist On It

Mexico City, June 28.—General Carranza has sent another urgent appeal to all Latin-American republics asking them to insist that the United States consent to arbitration it was reported on good authority today, though no official announcement has been made.

The appeal was sent after constitutional officers had scanned American newspapers carrying sensational reports regarding border conditions. Several officials said, that in view of the democratic platform declarations regarding Mexico and Pan-Americanism and his previous stand against the interventionists, President Wilson will be compelled to accept mediation if it is formally proffered.

The foreign office was surprised to learn today that certain American newspapers recently carried a report that Carranza had sent an ultimatum to Washington, giving the American troops seven days in which to withdraw, with the alternative of a declaration of war. The newspapers added that a special agent left here on June 19 with such a message. The whole story was declared a fake by foreign office officials.

Will Lose With Dignity

Galveston, Texas, June 28.—Mexico will win or lose with dignity, but first it wishes to meet the plain rest of the American continent, the conduct observed by the government of the United States, which wishes to find pretext for intervention.

That is part of the appeal addressed by the Carranza government to the governments of Brazil, Ecuador, Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Colombia, Peru, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, Bolivia and Nicaragua according to an official cablegram received by the Mexican consulate here today.

The full text of the correspondence has been published, throwing the blame for the Matamoros, Mazatlan and Carrizal incidents on the United States.

"Uncle" George Downing Has Stroke of Paralysis

George S. Downing, one of Oregon's oldest and most highly respected pioneers, is reported seriously ill today at his home, 1833 State street. He suffered an attack of paralysis yesterday afternoon which rendered him speechless.

Mr. Downing presided at the annual meeting of the Walla Walla pioneer meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Hunt a short time ago and was so feeble then that it was necessary to support him when he arose to speak.

Mr. Downing was superintendent of the state penitentiary from 1888 to 1897. His daughter, Mrs. C. A. Schreder of Marshfield, is with him and will remain during his illness.

Consequences of War Not Serious to United States

New York, June 24.—Neither the United States nor Mexico really wants war; yet conditions are such that a catastrophe of this sort seems imminent. To the United States the consequences cannot be serious, except in the unnecessary loss of life. Neither the creation of an army of 100,000 to 200,000 men, nor the expenditure of a few hundred millions of dollars will make any decided impression upon the resources of the United States. The ratio of costs and losses in a war with Mexico would be very much less than in case of the European war, and no such corresponding outlays for munitions and transportation would be necessary. No serious international difficulties are threatened by the Mexican crisis. War or intervention might revive the jealousies of South American states, which we have been sincerely trying to avoid with partial success and which should pass away entirely as our southern neighbors acquire a better understanding of our intentions. War might raise some questions concerning our responsibilities to other nations which, like ourselves, have large interests in Mexico that would be vitally affected. It is too early, however, to intelligently discuss such problems, and for the time being we are chiefly concerned with immediate action. We may first anticipate a period of excitement and an adjustment from peaceful to warlike conditions. Mobilization of men, war finance, preparations and shipments of munitions will each act as stimulants and promote activity. Optimism is one of the usual concomitants of war; yet it must be remembered that this war should it really come will be a relatively small affair, and that in a comparatively short period the country will become accustomed to the new conditions and affairs will go on much as before. How long and how stiff a struggle is to be expected cannot be foretold; nor ought its difficulties to be underestimated, although the immense superiority of the United States in resources and men indicates but one result—our victory. We cannot and ought not to stand idly by and let a comparatively small affair, and a stable government have been established upon a firm basis. To any event the task is a thankless one. Our government has already made it clear that it has no just of conquest, nor territorial ambitions; a declaration that should be lived up to not only for our own good, but also as an example of good faith and good will between ourselves and all South American republics. For Mexico the war is a serious matter, since with limited financial resources and difficulty in securing adequate supplies of munitions defeat is doubly certain.

The domestic outlook for business continues encouraging. Yet, there are certain developments and growing drawbacks which should not be overlooked. Some slackening of trade has already occurred owing to the scarcity of many commodities. For example, in nearly all metals, which advanced because of the European war, there is a weakening tendency, and it would seem as if the turning point had at last been reached. The steel industry, though active and still in excellent condition, is quieter; demand is less urgent, and premiums on quick deliveries have been abandoned. Signs of coming weakness are also observable in copper, lead, spelter and other minerals, not so much because of a decline in demand, as because of an increase in output. The same is true of petroleum which must soon feel the consequences of the tremendous development of new wells following increased consumption and abnormally high prices. These conditions are not wholly discouraging. On the contrary they prove progress and activity; and a necessary readjustment to new economic conditions, and the fact that supply is overtaking demand. Many commodities had reached a dangerously high level, often the result of reckless and unsound speculation. The days of extravagant war profits derived from big European orders are drawing to a close. At most it is safe to assume that the European war is about two-thirds over, and that while munition orders will not cease suddenly, it is well to appreciate that henceforth they will play a diminishing part in our trade and industrial activities. From now on the industries, which benefited so extraordinarily from the misfortunes of others, must face the inevitable recessions to more normal conditions.

Peace is not yet in sight; yet the belief gains that it is not far distant.

San Diego, Cal., June 28.—Customs officers and secret service men were today investigating the smuggling of three auto truck loads of machine gun ammunition across the border into Mexico, near Tecate. The Mexicans, it is alleged, under subterfuge, attracted Customs Officer Osborn, on duty at Tecate, to another point on the border, leaving the way clear for the passage of the auto trucks at a prearranged place between Dulzura and Tecate.

The ammunition was shipped from Los Angeles and officers already have important clues, which are expected to lead to the early apprehension of the culprits, said to be Americans.

It was learned today that San Diego police are seeking further information on alleged smuggling of pistols and ammunition from this city to Tijuana said to have been extensively earned on by drivers of for-hire automobiles, since the embargo on munition shipments was placed last week.

The Delight of Children

The self-developed, inner-flavour of New Post Toasties bear a unique attraction for the kiddies—they even like them dry from the package for their lunches. A box of Toasties provides "eats" that will delight the children.

New Post Toasties are usually served with cream and sugar, in which form the flavour is more pronounced and the flakes more delicious. These New Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package and they don't mush down in cream—both common defects of old-fashioned "corn flakes."

Then, too, notice the tiny bubbles on the flakes, produced by the quick, intense heat of a new patented process of making which imparts delightful crispness and a substantial body to the flakes.
